

The Whole Child - INSET Workshop. Monday 1st July

Karsten Stephan (Director of Language College)

After several years where it seemed that a relatively narrow and prescriptive curriculum applied to all schools, there is now a renewed interest in the wider aspects of the school-curriculum and the way in which it can address the needs of the whole child. As this workshop will discuss, personal development has been at the heart of effective education for centuries from Aristotle to Rab Butler. We'll look at one or two initiatives and investigate ways in which our schools can adapt the current curriculum to meet the wider needs of our learners.

These two websites give further context to the workshop.

<https://demos.co.uk/project/character-nation-2/>

<https://www.school21.org.uk/voice21>